DANGERS OF E-WASTE

Reducing the effects electronic wastes has on our environment and health, one device at a time.

Technology has become commonplace in our everyday lives, and because of this, many of us do not consider problems that these devices cause when we throw them away. This E-waste is an increasingly growing environmental and health concern, and action must be taken in order to fix this problem.

TAKE ACTION

Have you retired any of these devices?

- Cell phones
- Laptops
- Desktops
- Tablets
- Televisions
- Printers
- Many more!

Electronics like these will end up as E-waste in countries such as China, India, Ghana, and many more. By finding an E-waste recycling center near you, you can help reduce the amount of E-waste that accumulates in the world.
